LOCAL NEWS.

The department of Freshman English at Wellesley College during the coming year will be under the charge of Prof. G. R. Carpenter of the Institute of Technology, a son of Rev. C. C. Carpenter of this town.

A cupola is being put on the Nathaniel Peters barn in North Andover by Hardy & Cole.

Charles Johnson, engineer at the electric light station, has been enjoying a vacation.

Hardy & Cole have a gang of men repairing the church parsonage at Tewksbury.

Readers will notice corrected time-tables in our issue this week.

Willie Brown, son of William G. Brown, the butcher, met with a severe accident Wednesday. He started to climb a ladder which was placed against the door in his barn, when suddenly the ladder slipped and he fell heavily with it to the floor. He must have struck on the chin for the lower jaw bone was broken. It was a very painful injury, but he is now as comfortable as could be expected.

Miss Ella Bodwell, one of the Andover Press compositors, is ill at her home on Central Street.

The S. K. Johnson residence on Main Street is being raised and set farther back from the street. G. H. Wilson is moving it.

Horace Craighead and family have left town and gone to Mamaroneck, N. Y., to reside. This is a pleasant suburb of New York City.

Prof. Wm. Tracey, formerly of Lansing Agricultural College, and well known as the son of the late Dr. Tracey, was in town a few days ago to enjoy our Andover trees after a long sojourn in the Michigan meadows.

George Ripley and family are spending the month of July at Westchop, Martha's Vineyard.

Darkness and Daylight is the name of a new book which is spoken of more fully on Page 2, and which is now being canvassed in town.

E. Kendall Jenkins and family have gone to their summer home at Juniper Point, Salem.

Prof. H. C. Bierwirth has left town to spend his vacation in Germany.

Prof. W. B. Graves and family will be quartered at the Tahawna House, Keene Valley, N. Y., until Sept. 1.

The Post Office will be open next Monday only from 7 to 9.30 A.M.

Several inquiries have been made in regard to the Fourth of July celebration at Lawrence, and as near as can be learned the program will be as follows: 4 A.M. antiquities and horrors; 8 o'clock, races on the common; 10, civic and trades procession; 1 P.M., regatta on the river, and fireworks in the evening.

From no institution does there go forth at this season a more royally equipped body of women than those who graduated last week from Mount Holyoke College. Mrs. E. S. Mead, the new president, has proved her rare ability to preside over the 300 students gathered here, and already those applying for admission next autumn exceed the capacity of the college. The presence of Prof. Edwards A. Park, D.D., of Andover through the week gave great delight.—Congregationalist.

Judge Charles P. Peabody of New York is visiting at the residence of the Misses Peabody on Main Street.

A large number of Phillips Academy students are taking the college examinations, which are being held here and which close to-morrow.

The new ten-seated cars on the street railway attract a great deal of attention. One was run on the Andover line last Sunday.

J. Lewis Smith, son of James B. Smith, and Miss Daisy R. Cutler of Lawrence will be members of the party which will visit Europe this summer in charge of Dr. C. D. Cheney of Haverhill. They will sail July 9.

The Republican state convention will probably be held in Boston Sept. 7. The basis of representation will be the same as last year, namely, one delegate for every 150 votes and for every fraction as large as 75 cast for Republican presidential electors in 1888.

The dairy maids' entertainment and supper in the Town Hall to-night promises to be very successful and enjoyable. The maids have been practising all this week and it is said they do their parts so well that one would think they came direct from a dairy farm. It is in the form of a cantata and will be well worth hearing. The admission is only 15 cents, and the proceeds are to aid Post 99 in going to Washington.

Thomas Rhodes has severed his connection as overseer of the weaving department with Marland Mills, after a service of over a dozen years. To show the regard in which he is held by those who have been under his charge, a committee of two, Misses Mary Trulan and Mattie Garside, representing the employees of that department, called at his home last Saturday afternoon and presented him with a very generous purse of gold, Miss Trulan making the presentation speech.

Next Monday—July 4th—will find Andover without any special celebration, except what the small boys do with their fire crackers. But the Andover Cricket Club will provide an entertainment to some extent. A grand display of fireworks will be given on the cricket field from 8 to 9 P.M., under the auspices of the Punched Cadets, and, also, there will be an all day cricket game between Cambridge and Andover. The admission to all is 10 cents, ladies free.

The School Committee held its regular meeting last Saturday evening, and transacted regular routine business. All the teachers were re-elected, and the board confirmed the selection of the special committee in appointing Mr. Baldwin of Ithaca, N. Y., as superintendent of schools, to succeed Mr. Halstead.

"Fares please" will be the command of our well-known Joseph W. Higgins, who has become a conductor on the street railway.

Miss Minerva Dudley, teacher of the primary department at the South Centre School, has returned to her home in Iowa.

Miss Annie Robinson, drawing teacher in our schools, returned to her home in Marion last Saturday. She was accompanied by Miss Edith McLawlin.

In the honor list for Yale College graduates is noticed the assignment of a second dispute to H. S. Graves, son of Prof. W. B. Graves.

The July number of the American Missionary acknowledges from Andover the following sums: Chapel Church and congregation, $80; West Church, $35; "a friend" for Alaska missions, $5.

Isaac H. Clark is in town enjoying a vacation.

The usual places in town began disposing of fireworks this morning.

Miss Florence Locke of the Marlboro High School has returned home for the vacation.

The honorary degree of LL.D. was conferred on Rev. Cecil F. P. Bancroft, Principal of Phillips Academy, this week by Yale College.

E. B. Blanchard of the last graduating class at the Seminary, was ordained at the Congregational Church in Thorndike, Mass., Wednesday and has been engaged to preach there for the coming year.

The President and Fellows of Harvard College have appointed as an instructor in German for 1892-93, Heinrich Conrad Bierwirth, A.B. who has been teacher in Phillips Academy. The Board of Overseers, Wednesday, concurred in the appointment.

Among those who received the degree and diplomas at Harvard College, Wednesday, for doctors of Dental Medicine was Albert E. Hulme of this town.

Amherst College has conferred the honorary degree of M.A. on Edward Fairbank of this town.

Miss Mary E. Carter of Ann Arbor, Mich., is at home visiting her mother, Mrs. R. A. Carter.

E. B. Hutchinson and family are registered at the Miles Standish House, South Duxbury, Mass.

Mrs. J. E. Drinkwater has gone to Ellsworth, Me., for the summer.

Rev. W. B. Allis will labor during the summer at the Andover House in Boston.

The Andover Republican Club has begun to show signs of activity and a meeting has been called for this evening in the rooms over Valpey's market at 7.30. Business of importance is to be transacted and a large attendance is desired.

Phillips Andover men assume places of great importance in Yale athletics especially. The latest is that Laurie Bliss has been elected captain of the Yale base ball team for 1892. He is best known for his phenomenal work on the foot ball team, but he has also played base ball with great success last year at third base and this year in right field. He, as well as Capt. McCormick of the Yale foot ball eleven, is well known to Andover people.

Prof. and Mrs. S. M. Downs have left town for their summer residence at Edgcliff, Southwest Harbor, Me.

John Burnham, of Springfield, is visiting at Mrs. N. F. Abbott's. John Noyes, a brother of Mrs. Abbott, has also been here.

Quite a number of young people attended the reception at the Johnson High School last evening at North Andover. The Andover Orchestra furnished music.

There will be another band concert in the Square next Wednesday night.

H. H. Wentworth of the Seminary graduating class was ordained pastor at Goffstown, N. H., last week, Prof. Geo. F. Moore preaching the sermon.

Dr. C. E. Abbott attended this week the annual alumni dinner of the Harvard Medical school.

Miss Emily W. Low left town today for Northern New York where she will spend a few days, after which she will go to Michigan City, Ind., to stay.

Miss S. Lizzie Bodwell of Salem is visiting friends in town.

Geo. D. Pettie one of the Phillips Academy instructors has purchased and will occupy the Eaton estate at the corner of Bartlett and Cross Streets.

Miss Katherine Findley of Athen's O., is in town visiting friends.

Miss Bertha Smith, one of our school teachers, has gone to Crown Point Centre, N. Y., to spend her vacation.

Prof. W. J. Tucker delivered the oration at the annual meeting of the Phi Beta Kappa at Harvard College yesterday. It was a very scholarly address on working ideas.

The second service of Christ Church on Sundays will be at 5 o'clock, during July, August, and September.

Principal Bancroft will occupy the residence soon to be vacated by Prof. Comstock on Chapel Avenue.

Andover had a notable visit on Tuesday from an "old Phillips boy"—in fact one of the very oldest boys—Samuel Newman of Peabody. He entered the Academy in 1823, nearly 70 years ago. Although in his eighty-third year, he is hale and hearty, and climbed the stairs to Academy Hall, recognizing readily the portraits of teachers and students of that old time, and enjoyed especially going the old Academy the "Gym," where he studied with Ray Palmer, Oliver Wendell Holmes and other well known "boys," and where he pointed out "the maters' thrones" and the platform on which he spoke his first piece. He could not find the old farm-house on the site of Professor Tucker's residence where he boarded, but was glad to see "Squire Farrar's" house, though on a different site from that of his time.—Phillipian.

J. S. Colby of the Seminary preached in the Congregational Church in Chelmsford, last Sunday morning, and in the evening delivered a temperance address before the Lady Somerset union, at Shawmut Chapel in Boston. He will supply at various churches, during the next six weeks or more.

At the session of Probate Court in Newburyport, Monday, the wills of the following Andover persons were proved: Mary A. Beard, Mary A. Hardisty. An administration was granted on the estate of John H. Dean. Among the inventories filed were the following: Alanson Flint, $3262.64; Emily W. Low, $13,753.03.

Maj. William Marland attended a meeting of the old Sixth Massachusetts Regiment, M. V. M., which had its baptism of fire and blood in the streets of Baltimore, at the American House Tuesday night, to discuss and make arrangements for the trip to Washington in September. The regiment will go to Washington 200 strong, headed by Carter's Band.

In the window of Kennelly & Sylvester, 256 Essex Street, Lawrence, Mass., is displayed a very handsome oak case piano handsome in design, elegant in finish, made by the Estey Piano Co. They also carry in stock some handsome pianos made by different makers.

On Monday last, Misses Anne, Alice and Charlotte Colby went to Abbot, Me., for the summer, under escort of their uncle, G. M. Fogg, who has been visiting in Andover for several days. Mrs. Colby and Master Seabury were intending to go at the same time, but their departure was delayed by reason of the sudden illness of the latter, which however is not of a serious nature. They will probably leave in about three weeks. Mr. Colby will remain at his home on Salem St. until the middle of August, when he expects to join his family and go camping-out at Moosehead lake.

Rev. Clark Carter and family of Lawrence are again occupying the Allen place in West Parish for the summer.

The Andover Grange, at its regular meeting Tuesday evening, enjoyed an entertainment and strawberry festival.

The Andover Band and Orchestra have been engaged to furnish music for the Union A. O. U. W. picnic at Grand View, up the Merrimack, Saturday, July 30.

Seniors' Reception.

The Seniors' reception at Punchard School last Friday night was one of the pleasantest events of the kind ever held there. There was a very large attendance and every one seemed to enjoy every minute of the time. The Andover Band Orchestra, Charles Clark prompter, furnished music, there being a promenade concert from 8 to 9.30, after which dancing was indulged in until 12 o'clock. The march, which was a long one, was led by Stewart S. Bell and lady. The floor was in charge of the following gentlemen: Floor director, Stewart S. Bell; aids, J. Percy Roberts, Marquis H. Nims, Chas. H. Eames, J. Lewis Smith, J. Augustus Remington. The matrons were Mrs. George Gould, Miss Mary E. H. Derr, and Mrs. Horace Craighead. The whole affair may be called a success, a great improvement in point of pleasure over past receptions.

L. A. W. Attention.

During my absence from town until September, Mr. W. H. Eaton at Bliss' Drug Store will act as my representative.

E. B. HUTCHINSON,
L. A. W. Consul.

Card of Thanks.

To the Editor of the Townsman:

Please extend my sincere thanks through your paper, to the Andover Steam Fire Engine Co. No. 1, for their prompt action in extinguishing the fire, which occurred in my building a short time since. I hope soon to be able to be with you and thank each one of my friends personally for the interest they have taken in my behalf.

Yours truly,
THOMAS HOWELL,
Fruitland Park, Fla.

Frye Village.

One of the prettiest and best meat wagons ever got up by William Poor has just been finished for N. W. Robinson of Milford, N. H.

S. E. Trussell, a cousin of Mrs. Sewall Stott, and who has not visited her for several years, has been a recent visitor here.

The programme of the Village school exhibition, as given in our last issue, was finely carried out in Smith's Hall last Friday afternoon, a large number witnessing the interesting exercises. It was said to have been the best ever given by this school.

Alice Garland gave a party to several of her little friends Wednesday afternoon at the home of W. C. Donald.

John Barrett has moved from the Wadsworth farm to the Cohen place.

Charles H. Bell Jr. is enjoying his vacation.

Mrs. Jeanette Holt and Mr. and Mrs. George Beaton of Haverhill visited here this week.

The new time schedule at the Smith & Dove mills on the 58 hour plan will be from 6.30 A.M. to 6 P.M., and on Saturdays from 6.30 to 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Kelley very quietly celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage last Friday. Many friends called and congratulated them on reaching this happy event in life, and wishing them many more years of happiness.

Phillips Baccalaureate.

Prof. Geo. F. Moore delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Phillips Academy Sunday afternoon in the Chapel. His text was 1 Cor. 12:31. Among other things he said:

"Good things are not all of equal worth, and we can have the best only if we clearly recognize what is best and resolutely pursue it. It is a great art to put forth effort in just proportion to the value of the end to be achieved. This is nowhere truer than in education. We must know what we mean to accomplish by it, or we shall fail to accomplish anything worth while. The first thing in education is the discipline by which the powers of the mind are developed and trained to the highest efficiency. We have to cultivate observation, recollection and judgment, and in all to establish and confirm the control of the mind over all its resources through the attention.

This is a physical as well as a psychological process; we have come back to Plato's doctrine that gymnastics is a part of intellectual education. The qualities which are cultivated by outdoor sports are directly a part of mental and moral training. The mental gymnastic of the class-room has the same end; to develop concentration of mind, endurance of severe application, suppleness and swiftness. The question to be asked about a boy when he is ready to go up to the university is not what does he know? but can he learn?

The second thing is knowledge, by which we have here in mind not the technical knowledge of any craft or profession, but the knowledge of what are well called "the liberal arts." It is a mistake to anticipate the specialization of professional study at the expense of this larger learning. The basis of a liberal education is history—taking the word in a broad sense—science and philosophy. The distinctive note of the well-educated man is not that he possesses a great accumulation of facts, but that his knowledge is methodical, orderly, available, and accurate. The way to acquire such knowledge is defined in the familiar saying of Bacon; it is reading, conference and writing. But knowledge is not the chief end of a university. A greater thing still is culture, by which we are not to understand a veneer of accomplishments and manners. For the Greeks a cultivated man was kalos k'agathos—beautiful and good—and we can admit no narrower definition. Intellectual and moral beauty, like physical beauty, is the result of the symmetrical growth and harmonious activity of man's powers. Culture must achieve this symmetry and harmony; it must give catholicity of appreciation, and keep a man open to the influences of the world; it is the antidote of all narrowness of interest and judgment. Culture is not only grace and beauty, it is nobility of character. The cultivated man must be lacking in none of the virtues of integrity. He must be conspicuous for those which are the distinction of the gentleman; he must have a delicate sense of honor, stainless truth, unflinching loyalty to all the interests committed to him, courage and courtesy. For the development of such a character there is no better school than the university. Training, knowledge, culture, character are not ultimate ends. The individual is here not for his own perfection, but for the perfection of the world. The greatest thing of all is so to fill our place in the world, and do our share of its work, that it may be nearer its goal for the life we have given it; that is, that the kingdom of heaven may come, and so Paul adds, "And I show you the best way of all," the way of serviceable love which he eulogizes so magnificently in the next chapter, and which stands before us realized in the life of Jesus Christ.

I congratulate you gentlemen of the of the graduating class, on the opportunities which lie before you. Make the most of these too brief years of college life; and remember that to do that you must make the most of yourself in them. Strive with all earnestness for the "greater things," and let this other word of Paul be your motto, "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong."

A Blind Farmer.

The Springfield, Mass. Republican has a sketch of a Franklin county farmer who has been handicapped from his youth by total blindness, but who, notwithstanding this misfortune, is one of the most prosperous farmers in western Massachusetts. His name is William M. Davenport, and his farm is in Leyden, covering 700 acres. Its owner's property has come, not because he inherited a dollar or because he has been aided by others, but solely through his native ability and untiring efforts. He earned his first dollar by threshing and sawing wood, and now he is estimated to be worth from $50,000 to $75,000. He knows the geography of his farm, and is a good judge of the nature and character of the soil.

For years he has been looked upon as one of the best judges of live stock in the country, and he is frequently employed as a judge to guide buyers in the market. He attended school but little, and what he did learn was by sitting in the schoolroom and hearing the other fellows recite. He is a thorough believer in the New England farm and says it is good enough for him in every respect. Altogether, Farmer Davenport may be said to be a very remarkable man. It might pay some of the New England farmers to shut their eyes and follow his example.

Ways of Carrying Money.

A Western man says that men have various ways of carrying money. Butchers, grocers, and bakers carry it in a big crumpled wad. Bankers carry it in nice clean bills, laid at full length in a morocco pocketbook. No banker ever folds a bill. Brokers always fold their bills twice. The young business man carries his money in his vest pocket, while the sporting man carries it in his trousers pocket. Farmers and drovers carry their money in their inside vest pocket; and whenever you see a man carry a lot of loose change in his overcoat pocket, you may know that he has at some time been a car conductor or a curbstome merchant. Newspaper men carry their money in some good bank; and poets?—well, poets don't trouble themselves about such a trivial thing as money.

"DARKNESS AND DAYLIGHT,"

Or, Lights and Shadows of New York Life.

In this new and superbly illustrated work a noble Christian woman tells the thrilling story of her personal experience in Gospel, temperance, mission, and rescue-work in a great city. No recent publication is now commanding so much attention nor has any other called forth such ringing words of "God-speed" from ministers and eminent women. It has been preached about from famous pulpits, read by tens of thousands of subscribers, and made the subject of many a clergyman's Sunday evening lecture. Its authorship is fourfold, its four authors being no less than:—Mrs. Helen Campbell, Rev. Lyman Abbott, D.D., Col. Thomas W. Knox, and Inspector Thomas Byrnes, Chief of the New York Detective Bureau.

Mrs. Campbell, the principal writer, certainly was a woman commissioned of God, and "In His Name" spent many years as a city missionary literally "In Darkest New York." What a wonderful work she did. How devoted and blessed her labors were. It is a story never to be forgotten. This unique volume presents these thrilling experiences of Christian endeavor with the hundreds of pathetic and amusing scenes that were packed into them; it portrays life in a great city by day and by night "As Seen by a Woman"; it shows the power of the Gospel to redeem souls from the lowest depths; it gives striking testimonies of the redeemed; and from all these rich and varied experiences it draws living truths for head and heart that are worth to any reader ten times the price of the book. Mrs. Campbell's account of rescue-work is full of wonderfully touching incidents. Stranger stories are here told than romance ever dreamed of, every one of them drawn from real life by a woman's hand. In every chapter she weaves in anecdote after anecdote, incident after incident, story after story, and the reader's attention is held breathless to the end of the volume. "Strange but most suggestive is the fact," says Bishop Cox in warmly commending this volume, "that Christ is to be visited in these dens and dives; there are those whom He will bear in mind when he says: 'Ye visited me'; or, when he says: 'Ye did it unto Me.'"

Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott's life-long interest in City Mission work, and his personal share in that work, pre-eminently fitted him to write for this book. No appeal from temperance advocates can do more to promote the cause of temperance than the thrilling scenes and incidents so well described; at least so say Mrs. Mary A. Livermore and Miss Frances E. Willard.

One of the most absorbingly interesting portions of the book is that written by Inspector Byrnes giving the ripe experience of thirty years of detective life. Many of the startling revelations he makes are taken from his private diary. They have never before been published.

It contains 252 superb engravings, every one of them made from photographs taken from life, mostly by flashlight. Every face is a portrait, every scene a stern reality. In looking at these splendid illustrations the reader sees at a glance just how Gospel work is carried on by day and by night by rescue-bands; he is shown strange sights in out of the way places that are rarely or never seen by the casual visitor; he is taken into cheap lodging-houses and cellars; into the homes of the poor; into newsboy's lodging-houses; into the police and detective departments, etc.—nothing seems to be omitted.

We do not know when 740 pages have given us more genuine pleasure. If we speak warmly of the book, it is because it richly deserves it. It is sold only by agents, and is meeting with an enormous sale. Agents who introduce such a work ought to be cordially welcomed. A better work has certainly never come to our table. It will be read over and over again by old and young, with ever increasing pleasure and lasting profit.

The work is published by the old and well-known firm of A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn., whose imprint is sufficient guarantee of the excellence of this first-class volume. Royal octavo, 740 pages. 252 fine plates, portraits, and text illustrations.

THE OBSERVATORY.

Father Mollinger's Powers. Lady Bicyclists. Bad Roads.

There is room for a difference of opinion as to the source of the peculiar powers used by the late Father Mollinger in the truly wonderful cures which he effected. By many it is believed to be simply a method of Faith cure, others think they have reason to believe that his faculty for performing miracles of healing, especially in the almost incurable disease of epilepsy, lay in the hypnotic influence which he was able to exercise. The latter theory was upheld recently by a clergyman, who, to confirm his belief in the strange results produced over even intelligent minds by hypnotism, related an experience of two friends of his in India. These two young men had a great deal of curiosity to see a genuine Oriental juggler. One of them being an artist and the other a photographer, they had arranged whenever they should come across a native performer that the artist, by means of his sketcher, should give a general idea of the thing as it appeared to the spectator, and the photographer should make use of his kodak in hopes that the camera might detect some things that the eye could not perceive. The juggler appeared with an apron and an orange-seed as his sole properties for the performance. He seated himself Turk fashion, spreading the apron out on the ground in front of him with the orange seed underneath it. He then proceeded to make some passes with his hands, muttering cabalistic sentences; the apron gradually rose from the ground and when it was finally removed a small orange-tree appeared and rapidly grew far above the height of the surrounding foliage till the top was fairly lost to sight in the clouds. Then the juggler summoned his son who had not heretofore been visible and commanded him to climb the tree and ascertain its height. After waiting a considerable length of time the magician summoned his wife from apparently vacant space and ordered her to do the same, she too climbed the tree disappearing in the same mysterious manner. After another pause, the juggler produced by the same mystic process a coil of small rope; holding one end of it in his hand, he then threw the coil straight up in the air, then climbed up the rope, and juggler, tree, rope and all disappeared from view. The audience dispersed in wide-mouthed astonishment, the artist and photographer retired to the hotel, the one to complete his sketches, the other to develop his negatives. The sketches told the story as just related, while the negative revealed a little, black-eyed man sitting cross-legged on the ground, and the last picture showed the juggler disappearing down the street with his back to his audience. The conclusion to be drawn from this almost incredible tale is that all the juggler's audience but the kodak were under the spell of hypnotism. Is it not possible that some of the marvelous and instantaneous cures of Father Mollinger were due quite as much to his hypnotic powers as to the virtue of the relics which he possessed.

Bicycling among the ladies is becoming more and more popular, and there are thousands of them to-day riding the wheel in all parts of the country. The exercise is healthful and invigorating and a graceful person never appears to better advantage than when seated on the steel steed and spinning over a smooth road. Miss Francis Willard says that riding the wheel gives an added grace to the carriage as well as ease of movement. The pleasure of riding is much enhanced by a costume properly made; if the material is too light and the wind blowing, the gown is apt to be wound around the wheel and cut to pieces. A bell skirt of some dark wool fabric with a snug fitting waist seems to be the favorite at present. Inside of the skirt, a strip of ticking or other heavy cotton material about four inches wide should be run entirely around the bottom. This obviates the necessity of weights and keeps the skirt in place. Such a costume is a la mode and meets the approval of the experienced and the observing.

There have been many exclamation points in the comments on the bad roads, so deservedly called out by the result of the experiment of Gen. Miles in sending his dispatch from Chicago to New York. One of the most telling experiences in the frightful condition of our highways was that of the bicyclist who, hastening with all possible speed under command, was obliged to take to the fields in sheer desperation, his road being simply impassable. Tired and hungry he described the lights of a distant farmhouse, and stopped to ask for a glass of milk. The farmer gazed at the rider in blank amazement, his appearance on any vehicle seemed nothing short of miraculous. "Why," he exclaimed, "I haven't taken my horse out of the barn in six weeks." How a bicycle could have passed over even ten feet of such ground was beyond his comprehension.

Mr. Chas. N. Haver

Of Frederick, Md., suffered terribly for over ten years with abscesses and running sores on his left leg. He wasted away, grew weak and thin, and was obliged to use a cane and crutch. Everything which could be thought of was done without good result, until he began taking which effected a perfect cure. Mr. Haver is now in the best of health. Full particulars of his case will be sent all who address C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

HOOD'S PILLS are the best after-dinner Pills, assist digestion, cure headache and biliousness.

FRIDAY, JULY 1, 1892.

Those were very interesting exercises at our famous old Academy on Tuesday, which graduated ninety-two young men. Phillips never before sent out so large a class, and never a better one, and this almost one hundred young men cannot fail in still further adding to the laurels of Phillips
Andover Academy. Andover is proud of its greatest school, and prouder of
the able, earnest, scholarly citizens who conduct it. May its glory never grow dim!

Yale College honored itself in honoring the able head of Phillips Academy with the degree of "LL.D." Always close to that institution in its college fitting, Phillips has grown even closer under the twenty years of Dr.
Bancroft's administration, until to-day
a large majority of the wearers of the blue and white of Andover go to college and continue to wear the same colors.

The new Abbott Village schoolhouse
does not move along as smoothly as it should, and it seems very doubtful at
this writing if it will be ready for occupancy at the opening of the next school year. The present state of affairs and the doings leading up to them form
quite an interesting chapter, and are causing a good deal of comment. It will be recalled that the amount originally asked for by the school committee for building was $10,000, but at the town meeting the committee stated
that they had a perfectly responsible
party who would guarantee to build
and furnish the building for $8,000,
and that sum would be sufficient; and $8,000 was cheerfully appropriated. It was a matter of some surprise at the time how a building such as had been chosen (which as will be seen from a glance at the cut in a recent TOWNS-MAN is a very handsome one) could be built for the amount named, but the
positive statement by the school committee seemed to remove any doubt,
and a sub-committee of the school committee consisting of Messrs. Wakefield, Greene and Shattuck, was put in charge of the matter. The first work of this committee was to award the contract
for the cellar before the building proper
had been estimated, or even the plans were completed. The cellar is now completed, and meanwhile Andover
contractors have estimated the building exclusive of heating, plumbing,
and furnishing, and the other estimates
all ranged quite a sum over $10,000;
plainly something needed to be done,
and that something was the award of the contract to the architect W. P.
Regan for a trifle less than the appropriation named, who in turn was reported to have sub-let the work to two Lawrence contractors. But it is now understood that the committee and contractor cannot exactly agree upon
the terms of the contract and it is yet
unsigned. An interview with our Andover contractors assures very many of our citizens that nothing but a
"skin building" can be produced for the sum named. It may be possible for builders less conscientious, and willing to build less securely and less permanently to underbid our local contractors, but for the same building we are convinced that Andover builders
are able to compete with those of any other town.

It would be an unfortunate and not
really a creditable act for the school
committee to allow a public school
building to be built by any out of town
builders, unless they are firmly convinced that Andover prices are too high. In this case we do not believe they are too high, for the season is far
from a driving one and our contractors are inspired to make prices as low
as possible, consistent with the well known standard of their work. Andover mechanics are taxpayers; the taxpayers pay for the school buildings, and they have large rights to be respected
in contracting for their construction.

Commencement at Phillips Academy.

Another highly successful year at Phillips Academy came to a close Tuesday,
when ninety-two graduates, the largest
in the history of the school, passed from its doors. Commencement exercises began on Sunday afternoon, when a large audience gathered in the Chapel to hear
the baccalaureate sermon, which was delivered by Prof. Geo. F. Moore. It was an exceedingly fitting and interesting and its principal thoughts will be found on Page 2 of the TOWNSMAN.

Monday evening occurred the sixty-
seventh annual exhibition of the Philo-mathesian Society. Considering the doubtful condition of the weather, there was a large gathering of spectators. The character of the literary work as shown by those who took part was very good, but
in some cases hurried preparation was evident. Geo. H. Nettleton president of the Society presided, and announced the following programme:

Music, Andover Orchestra; prayer,
Rev. Joseph T. Tucker; declamation,
Theodore C. Hoffman, Rockville, Ct.; declamation, Loring T. Hildreth, Salem, Mass.; music; oration, "Every-day Aesthetics," George E. Merriam, Greenville,
N. H.; oration, "Owest Thou Aught?"
George H. McClellan, Abilene, Kansas;
music; extemporaneous speaking—A. E.
Branch, "Relative advantages of a classical and scientific education"; T. C.
Hoffman, "Importance of Athletics"; G.
H. McClellan, "American Literature";
music; Debate.—Resolved: That Capital Punishment should be abolished. Affirmative: W. T. B. Williams, Millwood, Va.; Alonzo E. Branch, Malden, Mass.
Negative: Cornelius P. Kitchel, East
Liverpool, O.; Walter F. Duffy, Franklin
Falls, N. H.; music.

The judges, Messrs. Pettet, Stone and
H. S. Robinson made the following distribution of the prizes: Declamation, L.
T. Hildreth; oration, G. H. McClellan;
extemporaneous speaking, first, G. H.
McClellan; second, T. C. Hoffman; debate, first, C. P. Kitchel; second, A. E.
Branch. While the judges were out the Andover Orchestra rendered several selections.

Of course class day is the most interesting in all the commencement exercises, and Tuesday was a delightful day
for the friends of the school to enjoy the different events. Baldwin's Boston Cadet Band furnished music for the day. In the morning the "Ivy Exercises" were held and Phillips Hall was packed almost to suffocation with an interested audience. The stage presented a beautiful appearance, ferns, palms, flowers,
etc., having been used to a great advantage by Thornton Bros. of Lawrence. A feature in the floral designs were the
scores of the different athletic contests.
On the platform were seated F. E. Weyerhaeuser, president of P. A., and A. P.
Thompson P. S., the former announcing the speakers who were as follows: Historian, E. W. Ames, Chelsea; poet, A. T.
Robinson, Pomfret, Conn.; oration, W.
M. H. Wadhams, of Andover; prophet,
G. X. McLanahan; statistician, G. L.
Hedges, Oregon City. The oration was an especially good effort and the statistics with the ridiculous presents to the prominent members of the class caused
no end of merriment.

After the statistician's remarks the
class in a body, together with the spectators, assembled in front of the Academy,
where the Ivy oration, by the president of the class, was delivered. When the oration had been delivered the class
marched over to the new science building and planted the ivy on one of the main pillars. After the planting of the ivy the class spade was presented by Pres. Weyerhaeuser to the class of '93,
the speech of acceptance being made by
W. T. B. Williams, president of his class.
The morning exercises closed by the singing of the Ivy song, the words of which were written by Archer Tyler
Robinson and set to music by E. C.
Jewell.

At 2 o'clock the students in order of
classes, headed by Baldwin's Cadet Band
with J. C. Greenway as marshal, marched to the Mansion House, where
they were met by the faculty and trustees who were escorted to the school
hall, which was well filled with relatives and friends of the graduates. The entire faculty occupied seats upon the stage.
Principal Bancroft presided and made
the opening prayer. Besides the orchestra selections the programme was as follows:

Oration (of Valedictorian rank), The Revolutionary Movement—in Russia, George Winters Shaw, Toledo, O.; or-
ations:—The Functions of the Busy-body,
Asahel Henry Grant, Charleston, S. C.;
The Cartoon in Politics, Edward Winslow
Ames, Chelsea; Views and Opinions,
Benjamin Thorn Gilbert, Clayville, N. Y.;
Realism in the Modern Drama, Horace
Canfield, Andover; The Andover Spirit,
Leonard Beaumont Bacon, Rochester,
N. Y.; The National University, Walter Robb Wilder, Topeka, Kan.; Phases of
the Short Story, Leon Munroe Closson,
Lawrence; poem, Pantheia, Archer Tyler
Robinson, Pomfret, Ct.

Dr. Bancroft then announced the following prizes: Harvard-Andover English prizes: first, $15, H. B. Foster, Andover; second, $10, N. A. Smyth, '93. Cook
Greek prizes: first, $15, S. O. Dickerman,
New Haven; second, $10, H. B. Foster;
third, $5, H. A. Farr, Athol.

Alpheus H. Hardy of Boston, of the class of 1857, on behalf of the Trustees,
awarded the diplomas, giving also a few
timely and very truthful suggestions for
the young men now entering the business or college worlds. He left with them as his text this passage: "Let not
him who girdeth on his armor boast himself as him that taketh it off." Continuing he said: "The Trustees give you this diploma as a commission from them to carry out into the world that which you have learned in Andover, to make better

the world and to uplift humanity."

H. B. Foster, son of Moses Foster, Esq., of this town, then delivered an excellent
oration on "The Massacre of Melos" together with the valedictory, which was one of the best it has been our pleasure
to hear. The parting ode written by A.
T. Robinson was then sung and prayer
made by Rev. Dr. Carleton of Bradford, bringing to close the graduation of '92
and adding another large class to the ranks of the alumni. From 4.30 to 6 the ladies of the faculty received the Trustees, the Faculty of the Academy and Seminary, the members of the graduating class and their friends, former pupils
in Phillips Academy, and invited guests
in the new science building.

The graduating class numbered 92
members, 66 in the classical department
and 26 in the English. Among the graduates were H. B. Foster, G. H. Nettleton,
Fred. H. Ladd, Horace Canfield, George
H. Jones, W. M. H. Wadhams of this town, and F. A. Weil of North Andover.

Procession of the Sacred Heart Society.

A very pleasant event during the year
at St. Augustine's Church is the annual procession in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. It took place last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and was very successful in every particular. Seldom is such a large crowd of people seen gathered on our streets as came together on this afternoon to witness this pretty yet impressive sight. The procession started from the church headed by the Andover
Brass Band and marched up Essex St.
to Chestnut, to Brook returning to the church. Many from the Wilmington and Ballardvale societies took part in the procession. Following the band came
the young men members of the Sacred Heart Society, Rev. J. J. Ryan pastor of the church, the altar boys, the small children of the Sunday School in white
costumes and carrying bouquets of flowers, the "little shepherds" in costume,
the young lady members of the Sacred Heart Society, the young ladies of the Arch Confraternity, Rev. P. J. Lynch
with altar boys. The floral mottoes
carried by the children and members of the societies were very pretty. Vespers
were sung in the church after the procession and Rev. Father Cronley of South
Lawrence delivered a very interesting
sermon on the devotion of the day.

South Centre School Exhibition.

The great interest taken in an exhibition by scholars of an intermediate school was shown last Friday afternoon
by the large number who deposited five cents to witness the entertainment of the South Centre School. Although the programme was somewhat long yet it was all hugely enjoyed and all who took part from the youngest up did excellently.
It must have been considerable of a task
for the teachers to give them so careful preparation and to them as well is due
great credit for the decided success of the entertainment. The following was the very interesting programme:

Opening Address, Bert Wrigley; song,
Rural Delights; recitation, Eddie visits
the Barber, Roland Lindsay; duet, Emma Hamel and Ada Piddington; dialogue, Preparing for a Picnic; song, The Fisher Boy; piano solo, Geo. Rhodes;
recitation, Tracy Halstead; recitation,
Philip Reed; recitation, Hattie Abbott;
song, Alpine Shepherd; dialogue, Playing
Grown up if we try; The Kiddle, Roy
Lindsay and Henry Ryder; recitation,
Ray Cole; piano solo, Arline Manning;
cornet solo, Stanley Pratt; recitation,
Grace Dushame; recitation, David Murphy; piano solo, Helen Whittemore; recitation, Seabury Colby; piano solo, Lena Lindsay; song, The Fishers; song, Morning Awake; dialogue, Visitors from Story Land; song, The Mowers; The Temperance Boy; Edith's Hardy; Edna
Young; song, At home and abroad; Gymnastics; recitation, Five Little Rabbits,
Alice Colby; song, The boat on the tide,
Edith Lyle; Grandma's Birthday, Miss
Roach's scholars; recitation, Gertie
O'Connell; dialogue, Brother Jonathan;
recitation, John Soehren; dialogue, The Inquisitive Prince; song, Joy Bells;
Bread and Milk Song, Willie Hardy,
Katie Hannon, Alice Garside, Sallie
Pratt; Our Futures.

Pronounced Hopeless, yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E.
Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on
my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay myself on earth I would my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get D. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and colds
I gave it a trial, took in all, eight bot-

Presentation of Diplomas.

The following is the text of Prof. Taylor's remarks to the graduating class of Abbot Academy in presenting their diplomas in behalf of the Trustees the 14th of June.

Young Ladies of the Graduating Class:
My former school-mate at Phillips
Academy seemed eloquent to me over a generation ago. To-day the reverend and honorable overseer of the Theological Institution connected therewith, heseems
still more eloquent as he illustrates
the idea of university extension he has commended to you. The Old and the New is his thought, it is the thought of the hour. I am acting as a new Trustee;
yet, I am the son of one who was Trustee
of Abbot more than half a century since,
and on whose whilom land Smith Hall
stands. I voice the gracious and accomplished ladies, welcomed to its governing
board by the Academy in a new departure untainted by the suspicion of heresy. I speak for my brethren whose loyalty to the school has been crowned by the choice of its future head, fortunately
with us in these closing festivities, another priceless gift of Vermont to the Old Bay State. I am mouthpiece of our treasurer, who became a Trustee the year
I left the Seminary and whose name is on the outer walls of the Hall, so largely due to his munificence within which the names of Ripley and Porter, Churchill
and Mason, Tyler and Johnson, are linked forever. Another voice is hushed, Your Counselor tells how he could scarcely speak
for tears of joy at the house-warming of Draper Hall. I can almost hear the old
oak of your park, under which we sat
yesterday, whispering the largesses his
vanished hand bestowed into Abbot's lap
and which will keep green for the memory
of George L. Davis to Abbot's daughters
from generation to generation.

What shall I say of our illustrious President? My colleagues asked him to write a letter for this occasion. It would have been a strain of music in your ears
as in those of your Principal. At such a voice the dead might almost come back to us across the years, and Farrar and Jackson, Buck, Peter and John Smith, Swift, French, Byers, Coburn, with the living guardians of the school, take again their places in this church at the
feet of our Prince of Pulpit Orators.
Alas! It may not be.

The Old and the New are struggling

within me as I stand before her whose training these are the diplomas trace. I look back to the journey of the two sisters
from a Western State. How meagre the conditions which greeted them. How broad the foundations they laid the very year of their arrival. How swift the response of the public to their new methods and magnetic teaching, the astyole
and diastole as it were, of a single heart.
How strong, patient, accurate, stately
authoritative the march to the semi-centennial of 1879 and beyond when one was taken and the other left. The very birds were singing "Phoebe" this morning as I woke.

The history of Abbot Academy as a book is not more the joint work of the
two sisters than the history of the school
as an institution. Their lives have passed into it. By minutes, and by furlongs,
by commissions, by refusals to accept
their resignation the Trustees have put themselves on record as admirers of the gifted lady who graduates with you to-
day. They do more. They tender her
now through me on her birthday, a diploma all her own. My colleagues charge me to express to Miss McKee in this presence their liveliest gratitude for
her able instruction and wise discipline
throughout a Principalship unequalled in length and unsurpassed in fervor. Thirty-three years! That was the period of the Master's life on earth. That too by a happy Providence is the period her ministry for the Master, in His Spirit, spans for this Christian Academy. Like His,
hers will not cease. It is the prayer of the Board that she may have her home
during many a sunny year on the grounds
she has embellished and among the books
she has amassed. Your daily memorials will ever tell of her, as the He-braic brain and the Hebraic conscience
of the school. You will never look at them without seeing the inventive and devoted band of teachers who have been around her; but chiefly you will see her
of the massive and serene brow who, like
a lady abashed, her own nuns, has en-
folded you all in the mantle of her ripe
scholarship, her cool judgment, her
strong sense, her refined taste, her tireless industry, her gracious dignity, her uncompromising principle, her exalted character! You know her great and generous heart, as only those within the charmed circle know it. Honor as it deserves the disinterestedness and magnimity which planned a New Abbot at the risk of wrecking the Old and perilled
the peace of the last years of her own
administration that the first years of her
successor might open under fairer skies.

For you, too, young ladies of the graduating class, the Old and the New are blending at this moment. The roll I present you represents the past. Bygone
toils and achievements, memories of study
and friendships, the broad culture, the noble
traditions, the sacred communions of years
never to return are stamped upon each sentence as upon each heart. The end has come, you sigh. Yes—but also the beginning. Your diploma is an usher into the future. With it you enter the new empire of history, of science, of language, of art, of music, of society, of literature, of which the Bible is the centre, of the church calling for your strong
hands and clear heads, of womanhood at her vantage hour in her golden age. The Master cries, "Behold I make all things
new." Open your arms wide to the new regime which is to conserve and consum-
mate the old. "As I can" holds every possibility.

"Death is not dreadful. It is the door
of a new life." So she whom you delight to call your mother, sister, friend said a few days ago in your hearing and mine.
Graduation is inauguration. Remember Lanier's last completed poem was Sunrise. Above the pang of parting from Abbot, Andover, and from her who
gathers up both, look up to the overarching sky of June. It bends over you as God bends over it. There, through myriad praying leaves, behold the rays of darazing gold of the sun—the Sun of Righteousness in which she walked,
while you sing all your journey through—

How dark, how dark soever the race
That must needs be run,
I am lit with the Sun.

That is Abbot's Torch for the future
as the past.

* Dr. Alexander McKenzie of Cambridge who had just delivered the address to the graduating class.

A Work of Art.

The new banner picture given away with
"Purifine" soap powder is a work of art and one that every lady in Andover will want in her home. It is offered by the Beach Soap Co. for 10 coupons, one of which will be found in each package of Purifine.

Brownie finds News Scarce.

Brownie did not seem to be happy when he entered the sanctum this morning, and an inquiry into the cause elicited the fact that copy was scarce. And, he said, it promises to be scarce, for with the road engineer business "settled," the "L. A. Puck" out of the field, all "built up" you know, one by one the subjects for "brownielizing" are disappearing.

"But why are the republicans of Andover so surprised at Harrison's nomination," he quired, and then to show it so he continued, "by putting a great big exclamation point after the names on the flag; do all the republicans say 'Harrison and Reid!!!!'?"

Oh well, we told him, you are a democrat evidently, where is your flag?

"Aye," he answered, "I know not. I met our old friend Jones the other day and he was looking for a site, and when we put ours up you may be assured we won't do it on a free band concert. I tell you we'll have a big time and pay for it. We'll have the band's drum major there, too, and when everything is all ready the cannon will go off, and he'll cry, 'Hurrah for the red, white and blue!'"

"Have you any influence with the street railway folks?" asked Brownie, after he had reiterated his statement that he had no copy, "for if you have all Andover except a few silly persons will bless you if you can get a certain conductor fired. Of all the conceited, disgusting officials he leads the lot," and out he went.

Cricket.

It is greatly to be regretted that the opportunity was not given to finish the game last Saturday afternoon between the B. A. A. team and Andovers. The chances of the latter were apparently good. The B. A. A.'s came with only eight men and they were all put out for 48 runs. The visitors batted first, L. Haughton being the only one to make much of a stand, he having 17 not out. To the great disappointment of the spectators and team, a heavy rain began to fall just as the home team was ready to go to the bat and the game had to be stopped. The fielding and bowling were good, Coates and Hetherington making brilliant catches. The teams met again at Longwood July 30, but on that crease it is doubtful if Andover can do as well. The following was the score as far as it went:

B. A. A.
Chambers c Coates, b McGlynn,	7
Cracknell b McGlynn,	8
Perritt c and b McGlynn,	3
L. Haughton, not out,	17
Bixby l. b. w. b. McGlynn,	0
S. Wright c Hetherington b Bruce,	4
Sullivan, run out,	1
Bignell c Christie b Saunders,	2
Extras,	6
Totals,	48

To-morrow afternoon the Everetts play here at 3 o'clock. Andover will be represented by the following team: Capt. Bruce, Coates, Kydd, McDermott, White, Low, Walker, Hetherington, Christie and Millar.

In Monday's game with Cambridge beginning at 10.30, Andover will have, Capt. Bruce, Coates, McGlynn, Millar, Kydd, Boyle, Walker, Saunders, Christie, Hetherington, Low.

The second eleven will play the Merrimack second at Lawrence and will include Capt. Callum, Dane, Wrigley, Wilkie, McGlynn, Boyle, Guthrie, Angus and three others to be chosen later.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure, be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, O. by F. J. Cheney & Co. Sold by Druggists price 75 cents per bottle.

Does Protection Protect?

Certainly, in one instance, it does. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great protection against the cancer of impure blood, and it will cure or prevent all diseases of this class. It has well won its name of the best blood purifier.

BALLARDVALE.

Miss Ida Davis of Bradford was in town yesterday.

The band is making a better impression every time they come, and their concert of Wednesday evening was heartily enjoyed.

The business meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. was held Monday evening. D. H. Poor was elected president, William Shaw vice-president, Frank Anderson treasurer, Sherman Goodwin secretary, Ellen Hayward organist, Mrs. Morse assistant.

The prospects are that the Fourth will be a quiet one with much less noise than usual.

The grounds around the schoolhouse are being graded off and otherwise improved.

Bernard Frosch of Pittsburg is in town.

Wm. Roselins of Meriden is expected to be here to-morrow.

The weekly prayer meeting of the Union Church was held last evening instead of this evening as usual.

Mrs. Henlein of Hartford will visit her daughter Mrs. Frosch during the coming week.

Rev. Mr. Kimball of Hyde Park preached at the Union Church last Sunday and will again occupy the pulpit Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Brougham of Lowell and Miss Ona Day of Royalston, Vt. have been visitors at Miss F. S. White's.

The following will attend the Y. P. S. C. E. convention in New York: E. B. Pearson, W. B. Pearson, Eddie Shaw, Edward Miller, Mrs. N. V. Cisco, and of course Mr. Wm. Shaw who will be accompanied by Mrs. Shaw.

See O'Donnell's Express "ad" in another column.

A barge will run to Ballardvale after the Dairy Maid's Supper in the Town Hall to-night to accommodate those who may desire to attend.

Public School Exhibition.

The school exhibition was held last Friday morning in Badlee Hall. The programme was a long one, and gave much pleasure to the parents and friends present. The exercises opened with a song by the school. Then followed the programme given below: Legend of the Organ Builder, James Keeland; Grandmother's Sermon, Josie Burrs; The Dying Newsboy, Della Matthews; Song, Sing Oh Sing, Miss Clemons' classes; Speech for a Little Girl, Winnie Belle Nason; Grumble Corner, Johanna Crawford; What happened to Rex, Freddie Von Grave; Spring Evening Song, Miss Brown's classes; recitation, Five Senses, Eddie Schneider; composition, Glass, Laura Moore; recitation, The Foolish Duck, Helen Thwing; song, Students' Song, Miss Dean's classes; recitation, Rosie's Sermon, Clara Clemons; recitation, The Wind and Moon, Minnie Howell; recitation, Driving Home the Cows, Mary McCabe; songs, Morning Breaks, Holiday, Miss Knapp's classes; recitation, Boys' Rights, Fred Wombwell; dialogue, Robin's Chickens; recitation, Three little Dogs, Joseph Comber; song, Piggywig, Piggy-we-we, primary classes; recitation, Origin of the Camel's Hump, Nellie Dearborn; recitation, Saved by a Child, Queenie Clukey; recitation, Florence Wombwell; essay, Influence of a Novel, Ethel Colbath; dialogue, A Bunch of Flowers; song, Hen and Chickens, Miss Copeland's classes; recitation, Contentment, Elsie Herrick; recitation, The Bald-headed Man, Mary Scott; recitation, Robert of Lincoln, Grace Clemons; recitation, I don't like to go to School, Roy Pearson; dialogue, What I would do; song, Mower's Song, Miss Brown's classes; song, Paul Revere's Ride, Miss Knapp's classes; recitation, Five Chickens, Annie Noessel; recitation, First Singing Lesson, Louis Balch; song Wild Wood Flowers, Miss Dean's classes; recitation, A Boy's Complaint, Joseph Wood; bread and milk exercise, Miss Clemons' classes; On the Laughing Wave, Miss Knapp's classes. Several of the above were specially fine. The bread and milk exercise was particularly good, and many of the individual participants did remarkably well. The teachers received many congratulations on the result.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, Creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Dorothy A. Morgan, late of Andover, in said county, widow, deceased:

GREETING: WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Jane E. Morgan who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her the executrix therein named, and that she may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on her bond, for the reasons alleged in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of July, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have against the same.

And said Jane E. Morgan is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the ANDOVER TOWNSMAN, printed at Andover, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, ROLLIN E. HARMON, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this sixteenth day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two.

THE HOLMES TRIAL.

EVIDENCE THAT HIS WIFE WAS BURIED ALIVE.

Damaging Testimony Produced Against the Prisoner, Who Testifies in His Own Behalf—He is Losing Courage.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 28.—Wallace W. Holmes was brought before the superior court yesterday, charged with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Nellie F. Holmes, Sept. 1, 1891, in the sequestered hamlet of Plainville. The crime will be recalled as one of the most atrocious and brutal in local criminal annals. The victim, after being rendered unconscious from blows, was buried alive under several feet of earth in the cellar of the house where the couple had for some time lived.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 30.—The third day of the Holmes murder trial opened in the superior court here. The prisoner appears to be breaking down under the severe mental strain incident to his trial. He was visited by his sister and his little son. The visit affected him greatly. Chief of Police Connors of Chicopee was the first witness called. He was subjected to severe cross-examination by the counsel for the defense. His testimony related to the finding and identifying of the body and to the funeral services. His testimony was unshaken. Witness said he went to Providence to see the prisoner's sister and described the interview.

Dennis Mack, a policeman, was next called, and testified to being with Chief Connors in November when they visited the prisoner's house. While the chief was digging a part of the right leg was exposed and witness heard Holmes exclaim, "that's her." Witness testified to prisoner's nervousness on this occasion. Dr. Tuttle, the medical examiner, testified to the condition of the body when examined by him. The doctor testified to finding sand in the windpipe, thus showing that the unfortunate woman was buried alive.

At the opening of the afternoon session the counsel for the commonwealth announced that the testimony for the prosecution was finished and Lawyer Druce proceeded to outline the case of the defense. He reviewed the prisoner's life, particularly emphasizing his sickness and misfortune. He stated that testimony would be introduced to show that Mrs. Holmes was seen later than Sept. 1.

The prisoner was then called to the witness stand and answered to his name in clear tones. He then began to relate his life, starting with his early days spent in Burlington, Vt., and then of his subsequent entering the army, where he received injuries from which he never fully recovered. He told of his wandering life from one city to another and of his marriage relations, the important points in which were brought out in the rigid cross-examination which followed.

Attorney General Pillsbury began his questioning by inquiring into his physical condition, which the defense claimed was so seriously impaired. The commonwealth showed that he was in possession of sufficient physical strength to make application for a position on the police force and to occasionally assault his wife, on which charge he had previously been arrested.

He denied ever having threatened his wife when sober, but admitted that he might have done so when drunk. Upon close questioning he said he recognized the dress upon the body as belonging to his wife. It was a red dress, he said, with a white trimming. And he denied that she ever had a gray dress. The prisoner then related an incident about George Mayo, whom he alleges to have suspected as the murderer. He said that Mayo once came to his house, and taking his wife by the arm, said he was going to stop all night. He admitted that he had been on good terms with Mayo, and the latter had once told him that he wished he had such a woman. When questioned later about the last time he saw his wife, he said, in direct contradiction to his previous statement that she had no gray dress, that she had on a gray dress when he came home from work Sept. 1, and that she then changed it and said something about going to Holyoke.

He admitted that he had never made any search for his lost wife. He denied that he was aware that his wife had taken steps to bring suit for separate maintenance or that he had ever made the remark that she would never live to carry out the suit. The attorney general had nearly finished the cross-examination when the court adjourned at 5 o'clock.

NEW SECRETARY OF STATE.
General John W. Foster of Indiana Nominated and Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—It took two hours and thirty-five minutes only to transform a private citizen into secretary of state of the United States yesterday. At 1:30 the president sent to the senate the nomination of General John W. Foster of Indiana. At 2:08 the senate confirmed the nomination. At 2:35 his commission was sent to the president and he signed it; at 2:45 it was countersigned by Mr. Wharton, as acting secretary of state, and at 4:15 Mr. Foster took the oath of office of secretary of state before Lewell Brown, chief clerk and notary public of the state department. It was the quickest work ever known at the state department.

Picnic Party Upset.
PLAINFIELD, Conn., June 27.—At Scotland, yesterday, a picnic party from Norwich, comprised of fifty women, was riding near the railroad track, when one of the horses was frightened by a train. The horse ran away and the vehicle struck a stone, upset, and was broken to pieces. Not one of the occupants escaped injury, and three may die. The women refused to give their names.

To Kill Unmuzzled Dogs.
LYNN, Mass., June 30.—City Marshal Wells has received the following order: "In the name of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, you are hereby required to kill or cause to be killed all dogs found running at large unmuzzled, under the provisions of section 101, chapter 102, of the public statutes." The order is signed by Mayor Hayes and the board of aldermen.

A Serious Defect.
LOWELL, Mass., June 28.—The fifty-eight hour bill for women and minors, passed by the legislature just adjourned, does not provide any penalties. The manufacturers are said to be aware of the omission, but will comply with the intention of the legislature.

Gymnast's Neck Broken.
PROVIDENCE, June 27.—Charles E. McNay, the gymnast with Hunting's circus who was badly hurt at Bristol Friday night, and is now in the hospital here, is in a critical condition. The doctors have found that the man's neck was broken in two places.

STEVENSON OF ILLINOIS

Nominated by Democrats for Second Place on the Presidential Ticket.

CHICAGO, June 24.—After a ten hours' rest yesterday at Chicago, the delegates re-assembled at the Wigwam soon after 3 o'clock, and nomination speeches for vice-presidential candidates were made.

Seconding speeches were made all along down the roll call of states, and the balloting commenced. When the call was concluded, it was seen that Stevenson led by a good margin, but he had not two-thirds. Then one state after another changed its vote, and when the Illinoisan had a little over 600, someone moved that the nomination be unanimous, and this was done.

Then General Collins of Massachusetts arose and, in a warm speech, moved that the next Democratic convention hall contain accommodations for the delegates, alternates, press, and no one else.

The electric light over the New York delegation fell with a crash at this point, and the roll call of states on the motion was dispensed with, to the confusion which followed. There was a small panic, but this was quelled without injury to any one.

The motion was referred to the proper committee.

Then the officers of the convention were thanked, and the convention adjourned sine die.

NEW COADJUTOR BISHOP.

Thousands Attend the Consecration of Father Michaud at Burlington, Vt.

BURLINGTON, Vt., June 30.—Yesterday was a gala day in Catholic circles, the occasion being the consecration of Father J. S. Michaud of Bennington as Catholic bishop of Burlington. The town was full of the church clergy from all over New England. Several thousand witnessed the ordination at St. Mary's cathedral. Archbishop Williams of Boston officiated as consecrator and Bishop Gabriele of Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Bishop Bradley of Manchester, N. H., assisting prelates. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Beavell of Holyoke, Mass., and an address was delivered by John J. Whalen of this city.

At the conclusion of the services a banquet was tendered the clergy at Hotel Crystal by St. Mary's parish, after which, with Rev. P. J. Bartlett as toastmaster, a feast of reason was indulged in. In the evening Bishop Michaud held a public reception at the bishop's residence, where all were invited to meet the distinguished clergyman who has lately had bishopric honors thrust upon him.

SUNDAY AT HAVERHILL

Disturbed by a Stabbing Affray, Resulting from an Old Feud.

HAVERHILL, Mass., June 27.—The Italian colony on River street was the scene of an exciting and probably fatal row yesterday, in which two men were stabbed and two others received broken heads. The affair was the result of an old feud between the Ramano and Lanza families, and started Saturday night.

Yesterday the parties were at it again, Francisco Lanza striking Rafael Ramano over the head with a wash boiler. Ramano's son, Princippe, came to the rescue, and Lanza drew a stiletto and brandished it in young Ramano's back. A general row ensued, in which Lanza's father, Joseph, became interested, and everybody took a hand. A posse of police was called and arrested the four principals.

Princippe Ramano had a deep cut in his back, which will probably prove fatal. He was taken to the city hospital. Rafael Ramano has a long stab in his left groin, and both of the Lanzas have had scalp wounds.

SHE KNEW HOW TO FIGHT.

A New Hampshire Woman Gets the Best of a Would-Be Ravisher.

ROCHESTER, N. H., June 29.—Word came to this city from West Rochester that a woman of 21 had been brutally assaulted and City Marshal Hussey at once investigated. James McDuffee, a respectable and well-to-do farmer, recently engaged, the services of an Italian to assist him on his farm, who came well recommended. Mr. McDuffee left yesterday to get a load of boards, leaving his daughter Mary alone with the Italian. She was busily engaged in picking strawberries, all unconscious of the stealthy approach of the Italian, who, seizing her by the waist, attempted to criminally assault her.

The girl fought desperately, using her hands and a table fork with good effect, disfiguring the man's face considerably, and the timely arrival of Mr. McDuffee foiled the miscreant. The indignant father reached for his gun, and would have made short work of the rascal had the latter not fled to the woods, hatless and coatless. Great excitement prevails, and parties are busy scouring the woods to capture him.

Weather-Crop Bulletin.

BOSTON, June 30.—The weather for the past week has been generally favorable for most crops in New England. The temperature has been above the average during all the first part of the week and slightly below during the last part. It was uncomfortably high on the first two days of the week, but since then the range has been small and very near the normal. The sunshine has been below the average in the northern and above in the southern districts. Slightly higher temperature and more sunshine are both needed in both sections.

Put Up, Mr. Quay!
MEMPHIS, June 27.—A. W. Billings, who owns all of the street railway lines in Memphis, has offered to wage $20,000 that Cleveland will be elected. Mr. Billings has heard that Senator Quay made the remark that he would wage $10,000 that Harrison would be re-elected. He has telegraphed the Pennsylvania senator to put up.

Who Shall It Be?
WASHINGTON, June 27.—An effort was made last night by some of the members of the national Republican committee at the Arlington Hotel to get together and try and effect an agreement regarding the selection of a chairman. For several hours the members discussed the question of the chairmanship. No agreement was reached.

The Prohibitionists.
CINCINNATI, June 30.—The wheels of the first day's session of the Prohibition convention moved very slowly, and not a great deal was accomplished toward the main object of the gathering. John P. St. John was made temporary chairman and Colonel Eli Ritter of Indianapolis permanent chairman.

A Lynn Mystery.
LYNN, Mass., June 27.—William Hagerty disappeared from his home on Market street last Friday. The missing man is a calf-kid finisher by trade, but has recently been employed in a local liquor saloon. He is married, and has several children.

BLINDED BY A SPIDER'S BITE.

The Last Thing She Saw Was the Hand of the Doctor That Lanced Her Eye.

In the almshouse of Kings county in Flatbush there are many old women, some of whom have seen the light of an earlier century, who delight in gathering around the stove at night and telling one another queer stories. These stories generally die away in weakened memories and rarely go outside the long brick walls. There is a woman there who tells how she was dancing on her sixteenth birthday when her brother burst into the room with the news of Waterloo. And there is a woman who saw Washington, and yet another who picked berries where the Brooklyn municipal buildings now stand.

Not long ago a visitor to this institution remarked to one of these women:

"I guess there are many inmates here who have had some remarkable experiences."

"Yes, indeed," the old woman answered. "There's Annie Krozan, poor woman, stone blind from a spider's bite. Did you ever hear the like of that before?"

This visitor, in telling about these very old women, repeated the story of the spider's bite, and it spread all over. Yesterday Annie Krozan told the story herself. She lay on a cot in the basement of the almshouse, where she has been lying for nearly eight years. All that could be seen of her was a white and wrinkled face half hidden in a white hood.

"I came here in 1882, sir," she said, "when I was only sixty-five years old. I had as fine and strong a pair of eyes then as a girl of sixteen, but now I'm all in darkness, and everything is black before me. Well, sir, I was married for the second time in 1865 to John Krozan, who was a sailor. After we were married he went to sea and never came home again. The ship, they told me, went down and all were lost. I never knew the name of the ship or the owners."

"Well, sir, things went badly with me, and at last I had to come here. Now it is one summer night, very hot, maybe eight, maybe nine years ago, and I was lying here on this very cot. I was just dozing off when I felt a sting in my left eye. I thought it was a mosquito, so I took my handkerchief and brought it down right hard on my eye. Then I fell asleep. The first thing in the morning I looked at my handkerchief, and there, as I hope to see heaven, was a big, black spider crushed dead. The next day my eye began to pain and swell, and when I couldn't bear it any longer they sent me to the hospital."

"They put poultices on the eye, but that didn't help it any, and soon the pain spread to the right eye. I went to the hospital regularly, and one day a young doctor lanced my right eye. It didn't hurt much, but I felt him cutting something, and his hand over my face was the last thing I ever saw. I was stone blind. He never believed the spider story, but it was either that, sir, or his lance that blinded me."

That is her story, and the matron of the institution and all the other inmates believe it.—New York Sun.

How Teeth Last.

One often reads of the art by which the naturalist is able to restore the skeleton of an animal from a single bone, and in fact a good many mistakes have been made through overconfidence on the part of learned men in reconstructing fossils by theory from insufficient material. But there is no possibility of mistaking the testimony afforded by the teeth. They tell all about the manner of existence led by their former owner, giving accurately the habits, diet and approximate age of the beast.

Thus it is fortunate that teeth last longer than any other objects in nature. At this day are found in a perfect state of preservation the molars and incisors which were used to chew with by the mighty reptiles of millions of years ago.—Interview in Washington Star.

Omnivorous China.

Dogs and cats are subject to the same process of absorption as dead horses, mules and donkeys. We have been personally cognizant of two cases in which villagers cooked and ate dogs which had been purposely poisoned by strychnine to get rid of them. On one of these occasions some one was thoughtful enough to consult a foreigner as to the probable results; but as the animal was already in the pot the convales could not make up their minds to forego the luxury of a feast, and no harm appeared to come of their indulgence.—Chinese Characteristics.

A Restful Sight.

It would rest any one's nerves to stand on Walnut street in Philadelphia and look at the gentleman who sits in the window of the Philadelphia club in the afternoon and does not move from ten minutes to 3 to five minutes to 5.—Cor. New York Sun.

The custom of shaking hands, which exists among the Ainos, the aboriginal inhabitants of Japan, was so strange to a Japanese author, in a work published as late as 1855, that he gives an engraving of it.

The Eagle as a Symbol.

In Europe there are still the eagles of Austria, Russia and Germany, besides others pertaining to minor principalities. An able writer remarks that "owing to the restoration of the western empire during the rule of the Byzantine Caesars the world has never since the time of Augustus been without one or two emperors of the Romans. The present Austrian emperor, though holding scarcely a province of Adrian's, is the direct successor of Charlemagne, who was crowned in Rome, emperor of the Romans, the sixty-ninth from Augustus." The czar of Russia bears the double headed eagle, which was assumed by the Grand Duke Ivan Basilovitch, who in 1472 married Sophia, daughter of Thomas Paleologus and niece of the last emperor of Byzantium, Constantine XIV.

The German emperor reigns over some Roman provinces and bears a single headed eagle with the crown of Charlemagne. The single headed eagle, assumed with the imperial title by the first Napoleon Bonaparte, sets forth the union of the whole Roman empire as the traditional aim of his family. All this strikingly harmonizes with the admitted fact of the continuance to the present time, though in a divided state, of the Roman empire, and suggests thoughts as to what may be the ultimate meaning of the words, "Whosoever the body is, thither will the eagles be gathered together."—Westminster Review.

Real Musk.

Musk—that is, the genuine grain from the musk deer—is now worth its weight in gold, so rare has it become, the wild eyed little animal from which it is obtained having been very nearly exterminated from its Asiatic haunts. A full grown musk deer will yield about an ounce of the grains, which are found in a sac in the skin of its abdomen. The grains are no larger than a pea, and some of them are as small as a pin's head. The musk is sold in the market in the pods or sacs in which it is found, but is frequently adulterated. So many of the deer have been killed before reaching maturity that the average musk bag imported, either Chinese or Russian, will not exceed half an ounce in weight.

The adulteration of musk is made possible by the use of a seed known as the musk seed. It grows in India. The Chinese musk is prized the most but is more open to suspicion than the Russian, which is seldom found with the sac broken. There are many artificial musks, and our common muskrat yields a pod that is the only near approach to the genuine imported musk.—Interview in New York Evening Sun.

On the Wrong Track.

He—Congratulate me, Miss Bella. In a few days Miss Goldthwaite will be mine.

She—I am glad to hear it; but I didn't know you were—

He—Of course you didn't, nor any one else. Didn't want any competition, see? But it's all fixed now. She'll be worth ten thousand a year to me.

She—Really? The name's unfamiliar. New York family?

He—No; Kentucky family, and one of the best. Sired by Bang Up, dam Queen Elizabeth—why you must remember her. She made 2:13 last season and not half trained at that.

She—Oh, I thought you were speaking of a marriage engagement.

He—Now, Miss Bella, that's pretty hard. I know I spend half my time in the stable, but that's no reason you should take me for an ass.—Life.

Dangers of a Meat Diet.

The evils of a meat diet are being appreciated by many high livers in cities, and these are being counteracted partly by the wealthy in adding more fruits and vegetables to their tables during the winter. The cheapness of meat and a peculiar craving which the system seems to have for meat have gradually made it common for city people to live almost entirely off meat in the winter months.

Meat is eaten three times a day in quantities, and the excessive use of such a diet is that rheumatic and gout temperaments are acquired. These temperaments are on the increase, and they are largely due to the excessive use of meat. Lime-water counteracts the evils of this diet to a large extent.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Few Ideas.

Dr. Hooke, one of the founders of the Royal society, and a mathematician of credit and renown, throws out a fanciful calculation on the number of ideas of which the human mind, in the aggregate, is capable; he arrives at a total of 3,655,760,000. We should suppose that so respectable a figure is not yet exhausted, and though a time must come when nothing new will be left under the sun, we may still hope (some of us) to catch a floating idea or two, of the practical kind, for current use.—Gentleman's Magazine.

Why He Went to Toronto.

Not long ago a friend asked the Rev. Dr. Wild, once mentioned as a possible successor to Mr. Beecher, why he went to Toronto. "I might say," he replied, "that it was a call from God, but the real fact is I am paid $2,000 a year more than I was getting."—New York Tribune.

Miss Lizzie F. Ingalls has resigned as teacher in the Kimball District School.

Mr. W. A. Russell of Lake View farm has lately been connected by telephone.

Tickets for the Helping Hand fair are having a good sale.

The last meeting of the N. A. Charitable Union previous to its vacation was held last Wednesday afternoon.

Charles H. Morrill has been taking examinations preparatory to entering the Boston Institute of Technology, yesterday and to-day.

G. F. Hinkley and family of Boston are at Mr. E. W. Green's.

Mrs. John Crockett is spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. James Chandler of Merrimack.

Tuesday evening at the Grange will be "an evening with the poets."

It is not expected that the electric cars will be run to the Centre until some time after the Fourth. Supt. Morton expects to finish making connections between the tracks, however, about the first of July.

Next Wednesday evening the members of the Epworth League will give an entertainment of a patriotic character. All are invited.

Mrs. M. F. Miles and daughter Mabel, of Ashland, Wis., are visiting at Mr. John Stevens', Main Street.

Mr. Percy Bartlett, a brother of Principal Bartlett of the J. H. S., graduated from Bowdoin College June 23. The subject of his essay was "Some Aspects of American Journalism." He became a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, and the degree of B. A. was conferred on him.

Election of officers of Wauwinet Lodge I. O. O. F. occurred Wednesday evening. N. G., George H. Perkins; V. G., William Roberts; secretary, R. M. Walker; treasurer, James Saunders. The officers will be installed next Wednesday evening by G. M., William Henderson and suite of Lawrence.

The Good Templars of Haverhill and North Andover will picnic at Foss' Grove, Lake Cochichewick, Saturday, July 16.

Rev. J. B. Knowles D.D. will preach at the M. E. Church July 24.

The Lawrence Ice Cream Co. furnished refreshments at the J. H. S. reception.

Mr. Herbert L. Foster attended the marriage of his brother, Harlan E. Foster to Miss Carrie B. Burgess, at the home of the bride's parents in Somerville, Wednesday afternoon, June 22. The future residence of Mr. and Mrs. Foster will be 179 Medford St., Somerville.

The concert by the Mechanics Band last evening was attended by a large number of people from town and surrounding places, extra cars from Lawrence bringing many people. The selections were well rendered and were warmly approved by those in attendance.

Miss Nellian Kimball, of Bridgton, Me., is visiting friends in town.

The houses of the Davis & Furber Machine Co., on Water Street, have been repainted a pale yellow color.

Miss Nellie G. Meserve is visiting her friend Miss Gertrude Smith of Lynn.

While working on the trolley wire near the junction of Water and Clarendon Streets, Monday forenoon, the "tower" wagon was accidentally overturned. At the time the wagon began to lose its state of equilibrium five men were at work upon it. Their combined weight and exertion in pushing a wire was concentrated at one side and caused their unpleasant fall to the ground. All were more or less shaken by their sudden precipitation, but two were more seriously injured than the others. David McIsaac received an injury to an ankle, and William Breen an injury to his back. Dr. Weil was called and rendered medical aid to the latter who was the most severely injured.

The Hanover Street Church Banner (Congregational) of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, upon its editorial and publishing staffs the name of Herbert G. Johnson, formerly of this town. Mr. Johnson's name also appears as one of the librarians of the Sunday School.

Miss Lucy Hovey of Lynn is spending a few days at the home of Mr. Wm. C. Holt.

Sunday evening, the trolley of one of the electric cars when near J. G. Brown's store, caught among the wires, and in attempting to restore it to its proper position one of the guard wires broke from its fastening and in falling, slightly grazed some of the passengers, luckily however not injuring them. Striking upon the track the wire immediately began to burn brightly illuminating the surrounding places for some time. After some delay the wire was finally re-adjusted.

Buffalo Bugs have made their appearance in this vicinity.

John W. Bolton is one of the "extra" conductors on the electric line from here to Methuen.

The new presiding elder of the Lynn district is Rev. J. O. Knowles, D.D., recently of Worcester. Mr. Knowles is residing for the summer at the Hamilton camp grounds.

Frank E. Nason, formerly foreman of Meadow Brook farm, removed to Lawrence last Tuesday where he will enter the employ of Russell's paper mill.

Mrs. A. V. and Master Albert Chalk are in Exeter, N. H.

Mr. E. H. Rowe of Lawrence has succeeded F. E. Nason as foreman of Geo. W. Russell's farm.

At the Thursday evening meeting in the M. E. vestry last week about 75 were present. A review of the church history for the past fifteen years furnished material for a very interesting meeting.

The subject of the meeting of the Epworth League, Sunday evening, is "Our Country." Leader, Benjamin Goss.

Arrangements have been made for the Methodist Sabbath School to picnic at the grounds of the Grand View Pavilion, Wednesday, July 13. Tickets 20 cents.

Edward Doherty, an employee in Stevens Mill caught his hand in the machinery and injured it so severely as to necessitate the taking of 17 stitches in the wound.

Mr. W. H. Salisbury and family came to their summer home in town Thursday.

Musical.

Tuesday evening the pupils and friends of Miss Lizzie M. Saunders gave a musical entertainment to their parents and friends in the vestry of the Congregational Church. The piano was prettily decorated with bouquets of beautiful roses, and jars of ferns with yellow and white daisies were tastefully arranged at either side of the room. Choice flowers presented by friends also decorated the small vestry, where refreshments were served.

The programme presented showed a thorough training, and the careful execution of the selections was creditable to both the teacher and pupils. About 150 people were present from this town and Lawrence. At the close of the exhibition all were cordially invited to partake of the delicious refreshments provided by the kindness of Miss Saunders. Messrs. Frank H. Saunders, Charles H. Morrill, Arthur P. Chickering, and John Duncan served as ushers. The program follows:

Graduation Exercises.

A large audience gathered at Stevens Hall yesterday afternoon to witness the graduation exercises of the class of '92 of which Miss Gertrude H. Ellison is the only member. Shortly before 3 o'clock the pupils of the school, with those of the Grammar school, who assisted, entered the hall and took seats reserved for them at the front. The stage and front of the hall were tastefully decorated with ferns and birch boughs. The large flag belonging to the school hung in graceful folds from the top of the windows in the centre of the front and upon it in large gilt letters appeared the motto, "E Pluribus Unum." The programme presented was as follows: Piano solo, Carnival of Venice, Harry Lynch; prayer, Rev. Chas. Noyes; solo and chorus, from cantata, "The Daughter of Jarius", Miss Ellison soloist, and Miss Geaney accompanist; declamation, Ninety-one in the shade, Melvin P. Burnham; song, Spring-time, by a quartette composed of Misses Josephine Robinson, Gertrude Ellison, and Messrs. Josselyn and Lynch; declamation Alexander's Feast, Mabel S. Robinson; declamation, Destiny of our Country, Harry A. Josselyn; declamation, Awfully Lovely Philosophy, Mabel F. Fuller; Toy Symphony, composed of Misses Josephine Robinson, Florence Robinson, Ellison, Keegan and Geaney, Masters Milner, Josselyn, Lynch, Kershaw, Marston, and John Downing; Essay, Sunshine and Shadow in life of Christopher Columbus, Gertrude H. Ellison; Irish Aliens and English Victories, Herbert H. Marston; chorus, The Woodman, Miss Josephine Robinson accompanist; declamation, Massachusetts, Harry Lynch; declamation,

The Chariot Race, M. Alicia Keegan; parting song, Auld Lang Syne, audience; benediction, Rev. Geo. Walker.

The chorus singing especially in the selection, The Woodman, was very well rendered, the clear, strong voices of the pupils of the Merrimack grammar school lending effective assistance. The Toy Symphony with regard to which there has been much curiosity, formed a new feature. The following occupied seats on the stage: Revs. Geo. Walker, Chas. Noyes, T. C. Martin, Dr. C. P. Morrill, Miss M. G. Carleton, Miss Annie Sargent and Principal Bartlett.

The ushers were Messrs. William Moulton, Herbert Marston, Harry Lynch and Harry Josselyn. At the close of the programme, an exhibition of drawings and herbaria was given in the school-room, specimens of drawing being especially well executed. At the reception in the evening a concert was given by seven members of the Andover Orchestra, O. P. Chase, leader. The programme of dances comprised seven numbers. Floor director, J. P. S. Mahoney; aids, Harry Lynch, W. A. Elliot, C. H. Morrill, A. P. Chickering, F. H. Lamere, J. P. Murphy.
